Cryptocurrency Traders are looking for a strong global platform that can help them trade faster, better and smarter. We have a platform that can solve their needs. As the users scale, so does the amount of data we collect. This data is rich with insights and requires constant modelling and monitoring to understand our users better. Now there's a gap we want YOU to address.

You fulfill the needs, wants and desires of our patrons by finding the key levers that enable them to use our platforms better. You help them do more. As an Analyst, you ensure all of the above and more. You make a difference!

Make a difference by,
• Providing Analytical recommendations to influence our product, marketing and strategy
• Design and evaluate product and growth experiments backed by solid hypothesis. Build and deploy machine learning models wherever necessary
• Finding insights that influence decisions (product/features), spanning from early data explorations about user behaviour, to multivariate experiments and optimisations
• Providing user insights through data: cohorts analysis, user segmentation, funnels and behavioural analyses in partnership with growth, product, engineering and UX
